

Asst/Assoc/Full Professor Homeland Security & Emergency Management / Political Science

This is a joint full-time faculty position in the Homeland Security & Emergency Management and Political Science undergraduate programs. The successful candidate will have research interests and professional qualifications in both emergency management/homeland security and law. Potential also exists for teaching graduate courses in public administration or urban studies. Interest and qualifications to conduct research in and teach disaster planning and policy, research methods, technology applications, hazardous materials response policy and management, public health and disasters, intelligence process, and/or homeland security are preferred. Additional duties will include conducting research in and teaching constitutional law, administrative law, American judicial process, civil rights and liberties, and international law. Doctorate preferred; master's plus appropriate experience acceptable; understanding of HBCU mission and values important. Review of applications begins immediately and will continue until filled. Submit three copies of cover letter, application (available at www.savannahstate.edu/), vita and three references with contact information to Chair, HSEM/Political Science Faculty Search Committee.

Mail to:

Dean of CLASS

Savannah State University

P.O. Box 20059

Kennedy Fine Arts Bldg Room 213

Savannah, GA 31404

EOE/AA

February 2009